CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

In offering to the community this justly celebrated remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not to trifle with the lives or health of the afflicted, but frankly to lay before them the opinions of distinguished men and some of the evidences of its success, from which they can judge for themselves. We sincerely pledge ourselves to make no wild assertions or false statements of its efficacy, nor will we hold out any hope to the long suffering humanity, which facts will not warrant.

Many proofs could be given, and we solicit an inquiry for the public into all we do this, feeling assured they will find them perfectly reliable, and the medicine worthy their best confidence and patronage.

From the distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Materia Medica, Bowdoin College.

Dear Sir,—I declined answering the receipt of your preparation until I had an opportunity of witnessing its effects in my own family, or in the families of my friends. This I have now done with a high degree of satisfaction, in cases both of adults and children.

I have found it to unite ingredients known, a powerful expectorant to counteract and pulmonary diseases.

PARKER CLEAVELAND, M. D.

Brunswick, Me. Feb. 5, 1847.

From an Overseer in the Hamilton Mills, in Lowell.

Lowell, Aug. 15, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I have been cured of the worst cough I ever had in my life, by your CHERRY PECTORAL, and several of my family, when I have opportunity, of recommending it to others.

S. EMERSON.

Read the following, and see if this medicine is worth a trial. The patient will become very fat, and the effect for the medicine was unquestionably genuine.

Union Street Hotel, Carolina Springs, July 5, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer,—Sir: I have been afflicted with a painful affection of the lungs, and the symptoms I am told, foretold more than a year, I considered myself in a consumption, which gradually reduced my weight, reach my present until I commenced the use of your CHERRY PECTORAL, which gave me great relief, and I have been steadily gaining in strength till my health is well enough restored.

While I am under obligations for the gratification of contributing to my recovery, I cannot but express my gratitude to you for the skill displayed in the composition of your valuable medicine.

I have Mourning, confiding these facts to you, I am, truly, yours, respectfully,

J. J. CALHOUN, of South Carolina.

Prepared and sold by JAMES C. AYER, Practical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

Sewing by Machinery.

To Journeymen Tailors, Seamstresses, Employers, and all others interested in Sewing of any description.

SEVERAL attempts have been made to produce Machines for Sewing, but they were met with but many objections, and could be used to little advantage or profit.

SINGER & PHELPS' Celebrated Sewing Machine, invented by Isaac M. Singer and manufactured by Singer & Phelps, No. 19 Union and Exchange Streets, Boston, Mass., is offered to the public as a perfect machine, and will be constructed and adapted to perform the kind of work from the stitching of a fine shirt seam to a whole suit, as well as every description of Cloaking. The needle is straight, and works perpendicularly upon the cloth of the machine, affording room and opportunity to adjust the fabric in any way—and the stitch made by the regulated to any length, even to a hair's breadth.

The stitch made by this machine is one which will not rip or open, and the sewing can only be taken apart by cutting every second or third stitch. From 500 to 1500 stitches, according to the fabric operated upon, may be taken per minute.

To bring this machine to perfection, much labor and study have been expended upon it by the inventor, and the subscribers now offer the Lock-stitch Sewing Machine, feeling confident that it will compare favorably upon trial, with the recommendation here given.

The profits arising from the use of one of these machines, when worked with either one or two needles, is from five to six dollars per day. The operation is not complicated, so the manufacture of clothing only, but may be applied to sewing every description of leather, cotton, woolen, and most kinds of feathers.

This machine is both durable and is warranted to run one year without repairs, and with many years. And it is so simple in its construction, and so easily acquired and managed, that any person of ordinary ability may operate it.

The price of these machines, which is worked by a single needle, and capable of sewing any ordinary fabric, either of woolen, cotton, or linen, is one hundred and twenty-five dollars, complete, with all appendages for operating.

These machines are so beautiful and neat in their appearance, and they take up so little room, that they are an ornament to any lady's sewing apartment.

☞ An Agent will wait upon whom exclusive arrangements will be made if wanted in every city and town in the United States.

All applications for Agencies, and all orders enclosing money for machines, which will be carefully packed and sent to any part of the world, as well as all inquiries about their adaptation to different purposes, will be promptly attended to by the manufacturers. All letters must be post-paid and addressed to

MRS. FOSTER'S

Dysentery and Diarrhœa Cordial.

THIS purely Vegetable Medicine has been thoroughly tested and proved to be the very best Medicine now in use, as it never fails, for Dysentery and Diarrhœa. We do not mean to say that it will cure the Cholera, but we firmly believe that in the memorable season of 1849, this Medicine was administered with admirable success to persons who had every appearance of being attacked with the Cholera and it never failed to give immediate relief. It has also proved decidedly beneficial to Children when teething.

This is a Medicine which every family should have, it not only cures the above complaints, but it is the very best remedy for Ills in the Stomach and Bowels; it regulates the Digestive Organs, restores the Appetite and gives new vigor to the Weak and Debilitated. It is mild, an excellent remedy for Colds and Coughs. Try it and you will find it to be all that is recommended.

☞ Prepared by MRS. FOSTER, and sold Wholesale and Retail, at her residence, corner of French and Somerset Streets, Bangor.

Also,—at Stetson's New Block No. 8 State Street; H. B. HALLS, Corner of Billings' Avenue, and at SARGENT & EMERSON'S, No. 3 Smith's Block. 6

SALAMANDER SAFES

90 STATE STREET,

Corner of Merchant's Row.

SECURED AGAINST GUNPOWDER

AND

Warranted not to Injure Books or Papers by Dampness.

THESE are the only Safes (Wilder's Patent) that have, in every instance, preserved their contents when exposed to large fires, like the burning of the Tribune Building in New York city, and many others, too numerous to mention.

The above Safes are manufactured under the personal superintendence of Mr. By JOHN B. WILDER, Boston, and for sale in Bangor, at the manufacturers prices, by

F. SKOF & DALE.

☞ The following letter from the Superintendent of the Maine Telegraph Company, is another proof of the superiority of JOHN B. WILDER'S Safes over all others:—

BANGOR, Oct 21, 1848.

John B. Wilder, Esq.

Dear Sir:—The Safe I purchased of you was exposed to a great degree of heat at the burning of the Telegraph Office in this city. It was in a fire six hours; the books and papers were uninjured, and the damage to the Safe was very slight, although it fell from the second story to the basement at the bottom. The little repairs necessary to the Safe have been made, and we shall not need to return it. It is still as good as new. Yours truly,

JAS. EDDY.

Respectfully yours,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed by the Commissioner of Patents, Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th Sec. of Act of '37.

Having relinquished the Agency for the transmission of Models, and adopted a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a different party is presented six weeks earlier, he continues to forward them free of expense—to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at the office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. They also have the advantage of verbally explaining their inventions, and of consulting in respect to their merits, in general, of previous inventions, in order to obtain correct specifications and claims. The experience of sixteen year's practice, an extensive collection of rare works, decisions &c. on mechanical subjects, the Patent Laws, and patents of different countries, collected at much expense during the long time the office has been established, together with accounts long kept of inventions patented at Washington, enable the subscriber to afford to inventors facilities of procuring Patents, assistance and information which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

WASHINGTON, JULY 21, 1849.—During the time I occupied the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq. of Boston, had business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them, an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

FOR

Coughs, Colds, Consumptions,

AND ALL AFFECTIONS OF THE LUNGS.

The VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM, being in use for the past twenty years, is now commended by our most eminent physicians and others of the highest character and reputability, as superior to any other preparation.

From the Editor of the Burlington Sentinel.

Burlington, Feb. 1, 1847.—That "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam" is a proper name to designate Redington's Pulmonary Balsam is proved by the fact that it has become the most popular medicine ever put forth for the cure of Coughs, Colds and Consumption. That it is worthy of its high reputation is made sufficiently evident by the unanimity of its annual sales.—Disease, Read & Co. are among our above quackery, depending upon the intrinsic virtues of their medicinal preparations for their disposal. Nothing is so plentiful that it does not require to advertise and gratuitous tribute of our recommendation to a medicine we know to be of real merit."

An eminent physician writes us,—"I have for some time past been in the habit of prescribing the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam for consumption, asthma, pleurisy, spitting of blood, and coughs, or pulmonary affections of every kind; and with confidence recommend it as superior to any other preparation of the kind for the above complaints."

Nov. 1, 1850.—New Certificates, to almost any extent, might be added if deemed necessary; but the proprietors feel that the article has become so universally well known and its virtues so generally acknowledged by physicians and others, as to make it unnecessary to do at this time, further proof of the merits of the above popular medicine.

☞ BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND IMITATIONS, such as Carter's Compound Pulmonary Balsam, American Pulmonary Balsam, and others, in part bearing the name, &c. so close, for the article by its whole name.

"VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM," and see that it has the written signature of "Wm. Jevne, Cutler, Agent," with the written name of each bottle. Each bottle is stamped "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam."

Prepared by REED & CUTLER, Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Medicines, Paints, Chemicals and Dye Stuffs, 138 Main Street, Boston, and sold by Druggists, Apothecaries and Country Merchants generally. For particulars and recommendations, see circulars to be had of druggists and traders. 50 cents & $1 per bottle.

KITCHEN & HENDERSON'S

HAIR PRESERVATIVE.

THIS article has been before the public nearly five years, and the proprietor is prepared to say that for REMOVING DANDRUFF from the scalp,

RESTORING HAIR WHERE FALLEN OFF TEMPORARILY,

and giving it a BEAUTIFUL SOFTNESS, AND GLOSS, CANNOT BE EXCELLED. The basis of this Preservative is a pure vegetable Oil, extracted from a plant found growing luxuriantly in the Western States, and which possesses, in a remarkable degree, the essential properties requisite for by acting upon and reviving the glands or roots. Those who try this fully apply this Preservative, will be surprised at finding how silk-like and glossy it renders the Hair, while it clears the scalp of scurf or dandruff, and affords the most agreeable sensations. It has already been extensively used, and in every instance has given perfect satisfaction.

REASONS FOR USING THIS PRESERVATIVE.

1. It is a very pretty, clear article, and has an agreeable perfume.

2. It is put up in a convenient form and at a very reasonable price.

3. Acting as a stimulant, it affords relief to the Head-ache.

4. It gives to hard brashy Hair a desirable moisture and silkiness.

5. It promptly arrests the falling off of the Hair, where it has commenced, and promotes the growth of new Hair. In fine, it does all for the Hair that any preparation for restoring and improving this ornament of the Head can possibly do.

THE PERILOUS VOYAGE OF THE OHIO.

We copy the following condensed account of the perilous voyage of the Ohio from the New York Tribune, taken from the Baltimore Sun. It will be read with deep interest:

Our voyage from New Orleans for Havana was a delicious pleasure trip. The sea was smooth, the breeze fresh, and the engines worked admirably. "On Monday evening, the 16th of December, we made the light on the Moro Castle just after sunset; but as the rigid rules of the port deny entrance to vessels after we were obliged to remain outside the harbor until the next morning. At daybreak the engines were put in motion, and as the sun rose we entered the magnificent harbor of this beautiful island.

Wednesday, the 18th, was a pleasant sunny day, and at 6 o'clock, we got up our anchors and proceeded on our voyage to New York.—Scarcely, however, had we gone half the length of the harbor towards Moro Castle, when a sudden tremor was experienced throughout the steamer. She stopped at once, and the anchor was again thrown out. For more than an hour no one of the passengers could discover what was the matter; but at length we learned that an accident had happened to one of the engines, which was being repaired. Those who were in authority appeared averse to speak on the subject, and returned short answers when addressed about it. The impression left on my mind, however, from all I could learn, was that the mishap was quite trivial and that all would soon be well again. I did not, however, go ashore till after dinner, and it was not until then that I became aware of the fact that one of the engines was entirely disabled, but that the only effect would be to make our voyage longer, for which we would be more amply supplied with water, fuel and food. Eight o'clock of the next day was fixed for our departure.

At midnight we were again on board, and on the morning of Thursday, the 19th, we went to sea about 11 o'clock, our single engine moving easily in the smooth water, but dragging us very slowly from the land.

The remainder of the 19th, the 20th, and the 21st December were delightful days, and we ape'rowned family and prosperously. We had left at Havana many of our companions from New Orleans, yet our numbers had been greatly increased by a crowd of Californians recently arrived in the Chagres steamer. We numbered, in all, about four hundred.

Sunday, the 22d, rose fairly, with a smooth sea and a fair wind from the southwest. In the afternoon, the breeze freshened, and our observations showed that we were off Cape Hatteras. At sunset, the wind still continued fair and freshening; but, with every hour, it increased till, at 8 o'clock, when we were forced to send before the gale, hoping to get round the Cape, while the ship was steadied by the action of the engine alone. Thus we drove on before the storm until two o'clock.

By this time the tempest had raised the sea, and the waves swept up like tall hills before us. The steamer, stripped of everything of canvass, climbed them gallantly, while every one who witnessed the scene hoped or believed that before morning the gusts would abate, and the reduced wind, lulling, might at least but favorable breeze, would waft us safely around the stormy Cape into smoother water. Suddenly, however, the engine stopped on its center.

In a moment the immense vessel brought to, with a tremendous shock. Everything in her cabins, state-rooms and saloons was dashed to pieces, and the broken fragments of furniture and crockery surging from side to side with every lurch, added to the frightfulness of such a scene at midnight on the stormy sea, amid clouds and rain and darkness. But our brave Captain and his officers were alert as soon as the power of the engineers was no longer available. Straining every effort, they got whatever forward and aft sail they could on the ship, and above her so, while the single engine was again fortunately set in motion.

But the battle between the storm and human energy was not ended. Scarcely had the canvas been stretched, when the after sail, which was most important in steadying so large a ship at such a moment, was shivered to atoms and blown in ribbons from the boltropes. The beating of this lee-sail, tackle, the rolling of the unmanageable ship, the crashing of the waves, the howling of the increased wind and rain, continued thus uninterruptedly until towards daylight, when the alarmed and bewildered passengers crept from their berths and rejoiced to learn that the barometer was rising once more, and that the squalls were not so violent. Meanwhile the engine continued to act, and urged the hull forward sufficiently to preserve steerage and, to keep the ship out of the trough of the sea.

The morning of the 23d was dreary enough, even with the hopes that had been renewed by the lull. No breakfast was served, and scarcely a servant or stewards of all the large number on board, appeared in the cabins to offer refreshment to those who needed it after their painful vigil. The lull of the wind from the southwest proved, however, to be only a prelude to a storm of greater violence from the northwest. As the day advanced the wind rose again, and, creaking from every side, rendered the ship uneasier and more unmanageable. At nightfall our hearts were sick with anxiety, for we were now aware of the fact that such sails as we possessed could do nothing for so large a vessel as the Ohio, and that our sole reliance was on the perfect, uninterrupted action of our crippled machinery. No cooking had been done, and a slight ration of crackers and tongue was all the refreshment obtained during the day. The impudent or cowardly servants of the ship skulked, and it was difficult to obtain even a glass of water. All of us in the cabin, however, strove to keep up the spirits of our various parties, and the ladies manifested as much fortitude in resisting the idea of ultimate danger. The prominent feeling in the breast of all was that of anxious suspense, and not, of fear.

So passed the tempestuous night of the 23d, during which I noticed that the Ohio had evidently become more unsteady, and that she certainly burned in the trough of the sea, wallowing without the control or power of control by the helmsman. Wearied as I had been by watching all the 22d, I went to my room about 3 o'clock, and, bolting myself on my trunk against the side of the berth, slept until daylight. When I returned to the upper saloon, I found it crowded with anxious faces, and when I spoke as usual, in cheering terms to the ladies, telling them that all would be well, and that the increased rolling of the ship was doubtless caused only by the abated wind, it was taken aside and informed in a whisper, that the crew had been freeing the ship from water all night, and that the rising flood within her timbers had extinguished the fires beneath the boilers. I confess that I was for an instant appalled; but it was only for an instant. I felt sure that such a ship was well provided, and that, with a crew so numerous, strong and energetic, she could not be left to sink beneath the waves.

In an hour the news came that the water still gained, and in a few minutes the gallant Schenck appeared in the cabin, and, with a firm but serious face, announced that he could not risk sufficient men to work the useful peril of our condition. There was a moment of silence and I broke it by proclaiming that if he had no men in his service to feed his ship, he had passengers in plenty who were ready to serve her—that I, for one, was willing to be among the first to set the example—and that I would be proud to be among the first to set the example—and that I would be proud to be among the first to set the example—and that I would be proud
